

SIKHS! BRAVE SIKHS!

When in their Khalsa element
Sikhs are yet
The finest human beings
Their mind held low, controlled
Held high their intelligence, extolled
Given to earning their bread
Doing hard work
In sharing food a la Langar
The World Champs
Exemplary in devotion to Waheguru
Yet one hand on sword hilt
At the ready
In defending the weak, the true
Against the strong, the false
However with might through.

On this earth
Across the oceans
I saw no folk as brave
As righteous, as sharing, as caring
The Sikhs!
Bravest souls
Who sacrifice self
So the righteous held on

Khalsa!
Guru Gobind Singh's
Divine gift to Mother India.

O Indians!
Respect this brave folk
Give them their due
They deserve the very best
Freedom, dignity, liberty, equality
Why, the most in federal sovereignty.

Let them lead
This Khalsa breed
True to Guru Teg Bahadur, Guru Gobind
They can make of India
A civilization's cool comforting wind
Doing good to one and all
Khalsa!
Being human beings' top intellectual enthrall.

Salute!
Salute Sikhs!
I salute Sikhs!
Saviours of native India
The bravest sons
The bravest daughters of Mother India.
